

DESIGN AT WORK NEW YORK

10-11 MARCH
JAVITS CENTER

LinkedIn | @design-at-work-ny

Instagram | @designatworkny

Website | designatworknyc.com

50 words

Design at Work New York is New York's dedicated workplace design event, bringing together the brands, people, and ideas shaping the future of commercial interiors. Taking place at the Javits Center on March 10–11, 2027, the launch edition has been created for the people shaping how and where we work.

100 words

Design at Work New York is a new event dedicated exclusively to workplace design and commercial interiors. Taking place at the Javits Center on March 10–11, 2027, it brings together architects, designers, occupiers, developers, manufacturers, and thought leaders to explore the ideas, innovation, and partnerships shaping the future of the workplace. Through a world-class exhibition, CEU-accredited education across three live stages, immersive installations, and industry networking, Design at Work New York has been created by the industry, for the industry.

250 words

Design at Work New York is New York's dedicated workplace design event, created exclusively for the people shaping how and where we work. Launching at the Javits Center on March 10–11, 2027, the event will bring together architects, interior designers, workplace strategists, occupiers, developers, manufacturers, and industry leaders for two days of innovation, inspiration, and collaboration.

The launch edition will feature a carefully curated group of leading brands alongside CEU-accredited education across three live stages, immersive workplace environments, thought-provoking discussions, and networking opportunities designed to foster meaningful business connections.

Supported by leading industry organizations and guided by an exceptional Founding Steering Committee, Design at Work New York has been created to provide a platform where ideas are shared, relationships are built, and the future of workplace design is explored.

500 words

Design at Work New York is a new event dedicated exclusively to workplace design and commercial interiors, bringing together the brands, people, and ideas shaping the future of the workplace. Launching at the Javits Center on March 10–11, 2027, the event has been created for architects, interior designers, workplace strategists, occupiers, developers, manufacturers, and industry leaders driving innovation across the built environment.

The launch edition will feature a carefully curated exhibition of leading brands, complemented by CEU-accredited education across three live stages, immersive workplace installations, thought leadership, networking, and collaborative experiences designed to inspire new ideas and create meaningful business opportunities.

Guided by an influential Founding Steering Committee and supported by leading industry associations and media partners, Design at Work New York has been developed by the industry, for the industry. Every aspect of the event has been designed to encourage collaboration, showcase innovation, and provide a platform for the conversations shaping the future of commercial interiors.

More than an exhibition, Design at Work New York is where business, design, and workplace innovation come together. It is a place where ideas are challenged, partnerships are formed, and the future of the workplace takes shape. As the industry continues to evolve, the event will provide an annual destination for the design community to connect, learn, discover new products, and help define what comes next.